

Movie Review by: Olga

Charade

1 Hour 53 Min. 1963 /Romance/Mystery/Comedy/Thriller

When Regina Lampert's husband, Charles is found alongside a train, murdered, in no time she's left broke, homeless. The French police, the American government, and 3 insistent men are after her, all thinking she knows where the money her husband stole is. Gorgeous Audrey Hepburn and debonair Cary Grant sparkle in the film, which has been called “the best Hitchcock film he never made.” It's fun, suspenseful, and stylish. Fall in love with Paris and a wonderful cast.